SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 17.

We return our thanks to the obliging Clerk of the North Carolina for late Louisville and Cincinnati papers.

TROOPS RETURNING.—The steamer Union passed up on yesterday with the troops that had lately been enlisted in this State and Ohio. They were bound to Newport where they will be mustered out of service. These troops were turned back from New Orleans.

There were eight ex-Governors in the Whig convention of 1840 that nominated Gen Harrison for the Presidency, and there were nine in the late convention that nominated Gen Taylor.

The Foreign News which we publish this morning is just twelve days out from Liverpool! Quick despatch.

The Locofocos are now raising hurrahs for the Administration over what they call "the glorious termination of the war!"

Let us see what credit the Administration is entitled to for the termination of the war.—When Mr. Trist failed in his first attempt at negotiation, the Administration ordered him to come home without waiting to make a treaty. He did not start immediately, and the Administration repeated the order in peremptory and angry terms. Mr. Trist in reply coolly said that he intended to stay and negotiate a treaty if he could, whereupon the Administration in its rage ordered Gen. Butler to arrest him and expel him by physical force from the country. The order however did not travel fast enough, for, when it arrived at the city of Mexico, the treaty was already negotiated.—Nevertheless Gen. Butler fulfilled his order by seizing Mr. Trist and sending him out of the country under guard for daring to negotiate a treaty against the express instructions of the Government. Mr. Trist, now in this country, is shortly to be tried for the offence, and the Administration is determined, that, if any law can be found for his punishment, its utmost penalty shall be visited upon him. Now under such circumstances, how exceedingly modest and rational and consistent it is on the part of the Locofocos to claim all the glory for the Administration on the score of the negotiation of the Trist Treaty!—Lou. Jour.
